C. OF C. DIRECTORS WANT P. E. TRACKS DOWN TO GRADE

City Council Will Be Asked to Take Action to Get Improvement Under Way

"Resolved, that this Chamber of Commerce initiate and get behind the matter of inducing the Pacific Electric Railway company to put its railroad tracks down to the street grade from the southern line of the city of Glendale on Brand boulevard to Mountain street, the extreme northern terminus of said railroad, and

"That this matter be referred to the incoming railway committee with instructions to lay the subject before the city council and use every honorable means to accomplish this purpose."

The foregoing resolution was adopted at a meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday afternoon on motion of Attorney Owen C. Emery after a thorough discussion of ways and means to bring about such an improvement. Roy L. Kent seconded the motion.

From the tenor of the directors' talk, the lowering of street railway tracks is a matter of vital importance to the beauty of Brand boulevard, a principal street, and the convenience of traffic.

For University Project
A resolution received from the Los Angeles Realty Board seeking the establishment by the state of a complete university plant in the vicinity of Los Angeles was given hearty endorsement by the local Chamber officials. It is maintained that the two-year courses provided by the southern branch are insufficient and that a majority of the students to the northern institution are enrolled from the southern counties.

Peter L. Ferry, member of W. E. Hewitt's committee on flood control, reported progress; a forum meeting for January 7 was discussed, but no action taken; and Secretary James M. Rhoades was instructed to publish his annual report.

Business Women's Club Has Meeting
and Social Session

A very pleasant social meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club of Glendale was held last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and at that time announcement was made by the president, Mrs. M. I. Biggs, of the progress being made with plans for the establishment of a rest room in the center of the city for use of the business women of Glendale.

It is proposed that light lunches will also be served at nominal cost for the convenience of the business women and not as a money making proposition. Plans are not as yet completed and the location of the rooms will be announced later.

The greater part of the evening was given over to playing 500, Rook and Solitaire Set, during which refreshments of ice cream, wafers, and oranges were served.

Dr. Laura Brown, chairman of hospitality, announced that plans are well under way for the first banquet of the club to be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms January 24.

$2,000 RAIN INSURANCE FOR GLENDALE'S FLOAT IS NOW BEING SOUGHT

Whoever heard of a $2000 rain check?

Something along that line is sought by the Glendale float committee to assure its entry being a winner in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena next Monday.

It is understood that the Los Angeles representative of Lloyd's of London will be interviewed as to the cost of a $2000 gamble against rain spoiling the flowers or causing a postponement of the parade. Committee workers yesterday stated that the weather is the only factor which can keep Glendale from having another prize winner. They are hoping that Lloyd's will take a chance and win the premium for $2000 would compensate only for the materials entering into the float.

Yuletide Reunion At A. H. Fuelscher Home Is Enjoyed

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fuelscher of 237 South Orange street were the hosts over the past week end of more than a dozen relatives and friends in a "real old fashioned Christmas reunion." The celebration lasted from Saturday until Monday afternoon, when the entire party motored to Devil's Gate Dam in the Arroyo Seco, where they witnessed the rising flood waters which were being held at bay by the gigantic engineering success.

On Saturday night the merry-makers gathered around the beautifully electrically lighted Christmas tree, where the usual "Santa Claus" proceedings took place, everybody present receiving numerous practical and appropriate gifts. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed by a musical program and a general social time.

Turkey dinner "with all the trimmings" was the schedule for Sunday noon, a total of sixteen happy celebrators gathered around the festive board for the Christmas banquet.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Fuelscher were Mr. and Mrs. A. Maurer and son, Walter Maurer, of Baker, Nevada; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Evans and daughter, Miss Mabel Evans; Frank Chase, Mrs. M. J. Evans, Miss Martha Prowse and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Powell. All of the latter named guests are residents of Long Beach.

Montrose Railway Company Track Is 'Victim' of Storm

The Glendale & Montrose Railway company is having troubles of its own as a result of the recent heavy rains, according to W. M. Mills, auditor of the corporation, who reports that the Messenger bridge, which is located about a mile south of Montrose, has been undermined by a current of water. A small portion of the track on the eastern edge of La Crescenta was washed out on Sunday morning.

The damage in both places has been temporarily remedied, however, making the track passable until permanent alterations can be made.

GLENDALE SHOWING SPLENDID SPIRIT TOWARDS FLOAT

Many People Giving Aid So That City Might Make Creditable Display

Ask and ye shall receive, the Good Book says.

The people of Glendale truly are boosters for their own home town when assistance is needed in such civic enterprises as the Tournament of Roses float.

This has been proven by the way they have taken hold and carried on the work on Glendale's entry, according to Mrs. M. L. Tight, chairman of the committee which was in session at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon. Her committee is doing splendid work, according to James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber, who further says: "The Business Women's Club has shown a splendid spirit in conducting the tag day drive with the populace responding generously. The newspapers have aided in gathering contributions. William A. Howe of the Glendale Theatre has offered a matinee for the benefit of the fund, if needed."

Aid Is Freely Given
"L. W. Chobe tells me that the co-operation of everybody makes his work a real pleasure, the following being a few instances:

"W. R. Phelon of the Southern California Gas company, when approached in regard to heating the warehouse, where the float is under construction, responded by installing the equipment and furnishing the gas, 'nevertheless.'"

"Jesse E. Smith of the Ford agency, when informed that a rubber tired tractor was necessary, said:

"Why, sure, the tractor's yours to use and it won't cost a cent." This is a new use for the Fordson, but it is equal to a battleship insofar as the purpose is concerned.

Everyone Interested
"When Edward Daniels, the builder, was asked about a carpenter, he replied:

"Certainly, I'll lend you Mr. Van Dusen." He is doing the construction work on the float and is taking quite a personal interest in the entry.

"The lawn at the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones on South Brand boulevard was spotted as perfect to provide the sod and Mrs. Jones was more than glad to let the committee have it.

"Downing & Cox's nursery is providing any plants necessary free of charge. The Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company has loaned the lumber, charging only for that which cannot be returned.

"The millwork, oak and sugar pine wood necessary for the mechanical part of the wonderful attraction, is supplied by the Glendale Mill company which is stamping the bills 'paid in full.'"

"The Glendale Florist, J. T. Allen, has assumed the tedious task and great responsibility of collecting the enormous amount of flowers necessary and he promises to deliver them on time. J. C. Bahme, auto top manufacturer, not only donated to the float, but gave time and material without solicitation. Many others have shown their willingness to do anything possible.

"How can it help but be a winner?"

This Dog Is Well Read; Education to Be Stopped, However

S. A. Warren lives at 1418 East Maple avenue. So does the pedigree, seven-month-old, black spaniel, Rastus.

That Rastus has a good taste for literature at this early age is attested by Mr. Warren who says the dog devours The Glendale Evening News daily—as soon as it arrives.

Please put the paper in the mail box, boy," he requested, "or I will have to subscribe to a paper that would make a dog sick."

Mr. and Mrs. Newton and Family Guests
at Dinner and Tree

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Newton of 521 North Jackson street and family were guests at a turkey dinner and Christmas tree given Christmas eve at the home of Mrs. Newton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Overley and son and daughter, Howard and Ruth, Miss Marguerite Roussier and Miss Ruth Esterbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Angier of North Kenwood
Are Dinner Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Angier of 500 North Kenwood street entertained at their guests at a family dinner party Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Angier and family, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Miller of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Coop and son of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster and daughter and A. P. Hampton of Arcadia.

GOVERNOR MAY DECLARE MARTIAL LAW IN NEWPORT
NEWPORT, Ky., Dec. 28.—With the arrival of two additional companies of the Kentucky National Guard this morning, Governor Edwin P. Morrow is expected to declare martial law in this city, where a strike involving workers at the Newport Rolling Mills has been in progress for several weeks. Sporadic cases of shooting on the streets in the vicinity of the plant were reported last night and early today, but with more than 350 men under his command, Col. H. H. Denhardt expresses full confidence in his ability to cope with the situation.

WOODROW WILSON CELEBRATES 65TH BIRTHDAY TODAY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Former President Woodrow Wilson, improved in health and in better physical condition than at any time during the past year, celebrated his 65th birthday today. There were no plans for a special observance at the S street home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson although intimate friends of the former president probably will be received during the afternoon. During the past few days Mr. Wilson has been flooded with telegrams and letters from all parts of the world, extending birthday greetings and congratulating him upon his return to health.

WHAT'S THIS? WEATHER MAN SAYS STORM TO RESUME!
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The fair weather prevailing on the coast today is only a temporary respite from the storm which has been central over the Pacific coast for the past week, United States Weather Forecaster G. H. Willson stated today. He explained that an area of high pressure developed over the plateau regions forcing the storm off shore. It was this condition that caused the temporary cessation of rain in California. As the high pressure area is driven eastward, the storm will reappear in the form of a low pressure area. Unsettled conditions will return tonight, the forecaster said, with probably rain tonight and tomorrow, although fair weather will continue to prevail during that period in the plateau district.

CLEW TO SHOOTING IS GIVEN OVER TELEPHONE WIRES
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 28.—Screams and shots, heard over the wire by a telephone operator, today led to instant police investigation into the slaying of her husband by Mrs. J. G. Simmons at their home here. Mrs. Simmons was arrested on a charge of murder. In her confession to the police she is reported to have declared Simmons, an overseas war veteran, was attempting to attack her. The confessed slayer, who is only 21 years of age, was married to Simmons when she was 16. Mrs. Simmons had just lifted the receiver of the telephone to call for help, she declared, at the instant the long distance call was cut in and the operator heard her cries and the report of the revolver. The operator, Miss Martha Connering, was completing a long distance connection with Louisville, Ky., to notify Mrs. Simmons that her father was dying in that city.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL ACCUSED OF SLAYING ORDERLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The charge that Lieutenant Colonel H. L. Opie, of Staunton, Va., killed his orderly, William Woolwine, in a dugout near the Argonne in October, 1918, was contained in a letter which Senator Watson, democrat, of Georgia, today handed Senator Brandegee, republican, of Connecticut, chairman of the committee investigating the "Watson charges." This is the third killing of one of his men that is charged against Opie, who was formerly a major in command of a battalion of the 116th infantry. Opie has already denied the other two charges. The third is made by Lemuel O. Smith, of Marion, Va., a former sergeant of Company M. of Opie's battalion. Smith said he was decorated by the French and the American governments. "I was commanding a detail composed of Privates Toad Ellison, Lee Collins and William Askew, bringing in four prisoners when we heard a shot in a dugout," wrote Smith. "We entered and found William Woolwine, Opie's orderly, lying dead. The room was still full of the smoke of the gun and Opie was looking at the body. He told us he had killed Woolwine and ordered us to carry the body out." According to sworn testimony already given by Henry L. Scott of Kennmore, Ohio, Scott saw Opie kill a sergeant who was crawling in a shell hole during a battle to protect himself against shells, and also a messenger who refused to turn over to Opie a message which the latter demanded of him. Grayson H. Withrow of Baltimore, Md., has written saying he saw Opie kill the sergeant Scott referred to. He will testify.

Public Hearing on Zone Ordinance Set By Council Jan. 5

Public hearing on provisions of the proposed zoning ordinance will be held by the city council January 5 at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall.

This was decided at the council meeting last night after H. S. Person and George Woodbery urged that no further action be taken on the proposed measure until a complete summary of it was published and notice of a public hearing given.

The proposed ordinance has not yet been completed, according to a statement made by Bert P. Woodard, city attorney, who is drafting it. The zones, however, have been outlined on a map at the city hall and may be inspected by those interested.

Mr. Person, in urging a public hearing on the proposed measure, said that the council should proceed very slowly and give the people plenty of time to study the ordinance and voice their objections.

D. Ripley Jackson Takes Over
Office; Efficiency to Be Steadily Increased

Glendale has its independent post-office!

At 8 o'clock last night the department auditors handed over the keys, supplies and $8 in cash to D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, with the word of cheer that the first of the year will find service here "first class."

P. O'Brien, Los Angeles postmaster, is providing the clerks and carriers for the few days intervening to maintain the personnel until January 1 when ten new clerks and more carriers are added to the present force.

George Hallett, formerly in charge of the local branch of the Los Angeles office, remains in the capacity of assistant postmaster with a raise in salary. Practically all of the clerks and carriers have expressed their desire to remain, according to Mr. Jackson, and he is more than pleased with the spirit of co-operation which prevails.

New mail schedules, giving greater service between this city and Los Angeles as well as northern and eastern points, will be in effect. The money order and postal savings window will be open between 9 and 5. Mr. Jackson believes, under the regulations for a first class office, and three windows will be kept open in order that patrons will not have to wait in line.

When interviewed this morning the new postmaster declared his private office was under his hat—that he wanted to meet everyone who had any suggestions to make. Everything is going to be running smoothly in a short time, he is sure, and any inconveniences he hopes will be excused with a smile.

"Los Angeles postal officials are treating us fine," he stated. "We are going to make them glad that we are here to serve. Really, I do not know even what the salary will be—it's the work we're after."

HIGH SCHOOL SITE IS TOPIC OF LETTER TO LUKENS' SITE BY H. M. BUTTS

Vote for Bonds and Also for Lukens' Property, He Says; Cites Some Reasons

Editor The Evening News—A keen interest in the welfare of the Glendale Union High school and civic interest as well, prompts me to do what I can for the success of the bonds in tomorrow's election.

In 1920 I worked against the projection of the Glendale Union High school on to Brand boulevard and against its definite retention in its present location. At that time I also promised to work in favor of a bond issue to secure an adequate new site where a school could be established that would be a source of pride and usefulness to the community. The time has now come when all who would see our young people have every opportunity for a first-class education, may do their share toward making such an opportunity possible.

Tomorrow, Thursday, December 29, an election is called, not only to vote bonds, but to choose a site as well.

First School, Then Location
 It is hard to conceive how anyone can, under present circumstances, vote against the bonds, but let us not forget that, unfortunately, there are those who consistently vote against all bonds.

The object of this letter is not only to help to sell the bonds, but is an effort to prevent the miscarriage of the "straw" vote and the squandering of the people's money on a proposition that would be a discredit to the community. Next to the school itself, location is paramount.

Some two years ago I openly proposed the Lukens' site, and well remember going out alone in my car in search of a location suitable for such a school as I believed Glendale should have and I was not long in recognizing the outstanding advantages of what is now to be put on the ballot as the Lukens' site. Later, I was a member of a committee that made an investigation similar to that recently made by the Chamber of Commerce committee of nine, and with the same result—a unanimous vote for the Lukens' site. This site is located on three of the finest drives in the country—drives that are thronged with automobiles every Sunday carrying visitors from all over the country. Transportation facilities are of the best. The site is high, dry and clean and will always remain so—an ideal place for the Glendale Union High school.

Opposed to Grey Site
 Not so with the Grey site, however. It is low, flat, a sandy wash and liable to be flooded at any time. Those who do not think so are oblivious to facts or are not familiar with what has happened in years past. It is situated on the very edge of the school district and practically adjoins what is sure to become, and in fact, now is, the industrial district. It has practically no transportation facilities either present or probable.

The tract is not visible from any street opening running west from Brand or Central and is certainly not at all in the line of auto traffic. Moreover, if, as is claimed, the wash at San Fernando Road is the lowest point in Glendale, barring one slight exception, it is not possible that at some future date it might be found advisable to locate near there a sewage disposal system? This situation may never develop, but why run the risk unnecessarily of placing our high school in such a proximity when there is a better, a cheaper, and a more centrally located site available? There is no more similarity between the two sites than there is between a dress suit and a pair of overalls. I feel that already enough of the people's money has been spent on a patch of sand we are pleased to call a city park.

I live on the "west side" as do, I understand, some seven of the Chamber of Commerce committee, but I, like them, am for the Lukens' site on the "east side," simply because it is the best on every count.

Yours for the bonds and the Lukens' site.
 H. M. BUTTS.

Charles Ray's New Picture Shown on T. D. & L.'s Screen

When everyone is talking football and the big game at Pasadena is on the lips of everyone, Ralph Allan, manager of the T. D. & L. theatre, thinks that the game staged in Charles Ray's latest picture, "Two Minutes to Go," will prove a bigger and better "eye witness" game than the one New Year's day.

Charles Ray's agility and athletic ability have helped to make him one of the most popular stars of the American screen today.

In the past he has proven more than once that he is an adept in the "manly art of self-defense." "Scrap Iron," in which he participated in a prizefight, was a recent outstanding example.

But never has his athletic prowess been more graphically demonstrated than in "Two Minutes to Go," the first National attraction which is showing at the T. D. & L. theatre now.

In "Two Minutes to Go" there is an exciting football team and Charlie Ray, as the hero of that game, is a line smasher of the first class. It is his playing that decides the crucial game of the year in favor of his college team.

Mary Anderson appears in the leading feminine role.

SOME QUESTIONS AS TO LUKENS' SITE BY O. M. NEWBY

Makes Inquiry Relative to Oil Station Said to Be on Property Offered

Editor The Evening News—As the chief argument of the advocates of the Lukens' site is: "That Eagle Rock, La Crescenta and Tujunga are in the district and therefore must be considered," I would ask them: If these communities mentioned were not in the high school district, would they dare ask Glendale to locate its new high school within 600 feet of Eagle Rock and four and one-half miles east of the west line of Glendale? If not, why then should a small minority fix our high school site?

There is another vital matter that must not be forgotten in connection with the Lukens' site, and that is this: The south line of that site stops 150 feet short of Colorado boulevard extending for a distance of 550 feet east of Verdugo Road.

Does Board Hold Option?
 In other words, there is a strip between the Lukens' site and Colorado boulevard 150 feet wide and running east from Verdugo Road 550 feet, and, worst of all, there is an oil station and several old buildings on it. Now does the board expect to buy this later? And, if so, do they hold an option on it, and at what price? There has been some talk of its being held at $55,000. Does anyone doubt for a minute that, if it is not tied up, and the Lukens' site is voted, the price will double over night—and our site will cost us twice $77,500, which additional sum would be sufficient to build one unit of the school on the "Grey Site," and thus relieve the taxpayers of this additional burden.

The above, as I see it, are matters that should cause us to hesitate long before taking that plunge.

O. M. NEWBY, President,
 Greater Glendale Improvement Association.

Eagle Rock City's Commerce Chamber Favors Lukens' Site

To the citizens of Glendale:—For years Eagle Rock City along with other sections has been happy to be associated with Glendale in the Union High School District. Though Burbank has for long had her own high school yet the citizens of Eagle Rock have preferred to pay taxes into the union fund to ensure a higher class institution of which we might all be proud. Though Eagle Rock City's assessed valuation is $2,312,985, a larger ratio than the number of pupils we have in the high school, we have been glad to pool our interests in a finely equipped school of a polytechnic nature.

We have not complained about the present site of the high school. But now that a new site is being selected about a mile west or a mile east for a permanent location we feel that all Glendale citizens can easily see the situation which we are placed.

The Lukens' site on East Broadway we judge is as accessible and fully as desirable a site for Glendale people as is the Grey site over near San Fernando road.

We are willing to share in the bonds; we are willing to support the new and greater institution; we desire to continue to co-operate with you in the cause of higher education, but removing our Union High School to a point a mile nearer Burbank which already has a high school, and a mile further from us, who have no such school except our union institution, would be an act that our citizens could not help but keenly feel.

Sincerely,
 W. L. Miller, President,
 C. L. SUTS, Secretary,
 Eagle Rock City Chamber of Commerce.

Building Ordinance Ready for Adoption By City Councilmen

The new building ordinance is now ready to be enacted into municipal statute, according to City Manager W. H. Reeves, who stated this morning that the failure of local contractors to appear at yesterday afternoon's special meeting in the city hall indicated that they must be satisfied with it.

"Full publicity has been given to the matter and a lot of meetings have been held heretofore," stated Mr. Reeves. "It is a good ordinance and nobody has tried to 'slip anything over'."

"The new ordinance does not affect ordinary dwellings at all. It merely covers reinforced and steel structures which were not covered in the old ordinance at all. The new ordinance specifies just how these shall be built. It is based on the Los Angeles city ordinance only, of course, it is not so voluminous or comprehensive."

"The new fees for building permits recently enacted by the city council will be included in the new ordinance. These raise the fee from $1.50 to $2 for the first thousand dollars and from 50 cents to one dollar for each successive thousand. However, for a garage or structure only costing $300, the fee is only one dollar and for one costing $600, $1.50."

The city was represented at yesterday's meeting by F. A. Marek, superintendent of buildings, and W. H. Reeves, city manager.

COUNTRY ROADS ARE BLOCKED BECAUSE OF RAINSTORM

Interurban Traffic Is Being Resumed; Devil's Gate Dam Lowered Several Feet

A dispatch to The Evening News over its International News Service leased wire says that with clear skies prevailing this morning, the 700,000 people of Los Angeles "came up for air" after ten days and nights of the heaviest December rainfall experienced here since 1889.

Rail and interurban traffic was gradually being restored and work of repairing the badly damaged highways was started. Reports from practically every section of southern California showed many country roads were impassable for motorists.

Large gangs of men worked all last night to prevent the Rio Hondo from overflowing near Duarte and flooding the residential sections of the town. A flood dam gave way and for a time it appeared that the community would suffer heavy damage.

Shipping Men Glad
 At San Pedro shipping men expressed relief at the cessation of the storm. The British schooner Lady Mine which arrived with its main mast torn away, was being repaired. Its crew reported that much of its cargo had to be thrown away on the voyage from Vancouver, B. C.

The steam schooner Yellowstone, which was overdue, and over which there was much anxiety, arrived at San Pedro after encountering a terrific gale off the north California coast.

The water in the huge flood control reservoir back of Devil's Gate dam near Pasadena has been lowered several feet as a precautionary measure. Many of the forty-eight motion picture companies of Los Angeles and vicinity utilized the spectacular rush of water over the dam for "movie" drowning and rescue scenes.

Stranded on Mt. Baldy
 One hundred persons of north Anaheim whose homes were flooded, took temporary refuge in a school building. One hundred persons are stranded on Mount Baldy because of washouts. They have plenty of food and are in no danger.

President Charles H. Treat and Commissioners E. J. Delorey and Hugh J. McGuire of the Los Angeles board of public works and City Engineer John A. Griffin narrowly escaped death when high tension wires of an electric company crashed to the ground near the eastern section of the city limits. Poles carrying the wires were undermined by the flood.

Harry St. Claire States His Views Upon School Sites

Editor The Evening News—It is to be hoped that the controversy over the high school location will soon be over and what has been a spirited and keen yet there has been but little direct personal contention, or interference regarding personal financial gain, to be obtained from this or that location.

To this writer, the matter of personal gain is the most remote idea, but the fact of the greatest interest to the greatest number should be the motto of all good citizens.

I have heard vigorous arguments from the advocates of both sites and their grounds seemed well taken, and convincing points seemed to have been definitely fixed, but, after all, it is up to the voter to decide, and it is to be hoped that prejudice will be ignored, and that what appears to be best for all will be the impulse that shall direct the hand that yields the indelible cross in the voting booth.

To the casual observer, and one that has seen Glendale grow so much in the past few years, it looks as though the industrial portion of Glendale will very soon extend to Burbank, and that section between the two places will soon be thickly populated, and in no very distant time there may be plenty of young men and women of the high school age to demand a school for that section, and if things keep moving as they seem to indicate, and Glendale and Eagle Rock should decide to throw their interests together, then the site on the west seems to be too far west.

If elevation means anything to health, then the eastern location seems to have quite an advantage, and ease of access with the present transportation facilities seems much better in the east than the west.

Some apparently well-founded objections point to the wash, which it appears would have to be bridged, at quite an expense to the city, if the west site should be selected.

The question of price of the different sites should not cut so much figure, as which is actually the BEST, and will be most satisfactory in the end.

In speaking of comparison of cost and values of the two locations, much has been said.

It is said that a party was offered eleven acres adjoining the proposed west location, some twelve or fifteen months ago, for some $8,500, which compared with the price named to the city, as wanted for the west site now, would mean that he made a very serious financial mistake by not buying, if the price now wanted for this proposed location is anywhere near reasonable, in price, to the city.

It surely is the duty of every voter of Glendale to be sure to go to the polls and vote for the best interests of our city, as he or she may see it, and not at the suggestion of any bunch or clique.

HARRY ST. CLAIRE,
 1250 South Maryland.

Elder E. L. Neff and Wife Honored at Surprise Party

In the days when pastors had threadbare knees and shiny-seamed coats, one of them lost patience with his close-fisted flock and accepted a position as chaplain in a penitentiary. He told his ungrateful congregation in his closing address that he was leaving them because they didn't love each other—there hadn't been a wedding in six years—and also because they didn't love him, for in all the six years that he had served them they had given him nothing but wormy apples and moldy fruit.

Last night there was a shower on Elder and Mrs. E. L. Neff at the Harrower Laboratory—not of wormy apples and moldy fruit—but of the very best canned vegetables, preserved fruits and apples that at least didn't look wormy. There was also a handsome linen tablecloth and napkins in the shower and a dinner set, which called forth a murmur of admiration from the ladies in the assembly. Last but not least, Mrs. Neff was showered with real coin of the realm.

Elder Neff is the pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church and has served his 600 members for more than a year, and has served them faithfully and well.

Dr. Harrower had sent them a special invitation to a little program in the assembly room of the laboratory, and to prove that the pastor and his wife were really surprised, they even considered not coming to the entertainment. They came into the auditorium totally disarmed, quietly seeking a comfortable seat before the entertainment began. The assembly arose and applauded, and one can testify to the fact that the look of surprise on their faces was genuine.

When they were seated, Dr. Harrower explained to the guests of honor the purpose of the evening's assembly. L. A. Ford, speaking for the congregation, expressed to the pastor and his wife the sincere appreciation of the congregation for their devoted services and voiced the hope that they would remain with the church for years to come. Elders J. O. Corliss and R. W. Munson presented the gifts and then Elder and Mrs. Neff thanked their friends for their thoughtfulness and their substantial expressions of regard.

A short but interesting musical and literary program was rendered. Mrs. Schaffner entertained the assembly with an exceptionally well-executed piano selection and Mrs. Henry R. Harrower gave an appropriate and amusing reading entitled "When the Minister Calls." Prof. Max Hill, who is the principal of the Glendale Academy, told us how Virginia met Kansas and came to California. Elder Neff was born in the Old Dominion State and Mrs. Neff is a native of the Sunflower state.

There was a social hour of hand-shaking and visiting and then parties were escorted through the offices of the administration building and the laboratory. They were given the opportunity of seeing some of the interesting machinery in the laboratory at work.

Three complete stills were discovered in a tomb in a cemetery in Somerset, Massachusetts, by an undertaker. Authorities believe moonshiners have been making liquor, as there were evidences of recent use of the stills.

Vote for a High School site located in Glendale.

BUSINESS BLOCK TO BE ERECTED ON EAST BROADWAY

Edward Turner Will Build at Once; Three Store Rooms
Are Already Taken

Edward Turner of 118 East Park avenue announces that he and his brother, Arthur Turner of Hollywood, will have a one-story, three store room building erected at 218-220 East Broadway immediately, the entire block having been spoken for.

"The permit for this structure will be taken out immediately," said the former, to a representative of The Glendale Evening News. "While we could have delayed the project until the first of the year I wanted to be one who will help swell the 1921 total to more than $5,000,000."

"Frank Rasche, architect, has completed the plans for us and they will embody the very latest design in plate-glass, tile and brick fronts, making a decided improvement for East Broadway frontage."

Realty Value Grows
"The building will be 50 by 60 feet on a 50 by 150-foot lot which we bought last spring for $12,000 and have refused a $15,000 cash offer.
I have every reason to believe that Glendale business property offers the best investment in southern California today," concluded Mr. Turner.

The announcement of the Turners'

APPRECIATION FOR POSTOFFICE AID IS EXPRESSED

Superintendent Hallett, As Branch Passes, Tells of Co-Operation Given

Glendale, California.

December 27, 1921.

To the Citizens of Glendale—This being my last day as superintendent of the Glendale branch of the Los Angeles postoffice, I desire to express to the people of Glendale my sincere appreciation of their hearty co-operation, especially during the time of usual congestion owing to the holiday business.

The citizens of Glendale in general have shown a hearty interest and spirit of co-operation that is wonderful.

Through Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools in Glendale, we were given the use of any schools that we cared to select to be used as sub-distributing stations for Christmas mail. He also placed the janitors of these schools at our command, advising them to furnish any tables or anything that was required in order to assist in handling the mails. This offer was taken advantage of with very gratifying results. The firm of H. E. White, Inc., gave us the use of their new building, corner San Fernando and Brand, which we have used and are still using for a sub-distributing station. They also gave us the use of their wheeled stock and we even had their large Moreland truck when we were crippled for cars. Dr. Harrower, with his usual wonderful support and co-operation, offered us the use of a part of his laboratory for receiving packages, placed a truck at our disposal, allowing the same to remain with us over the Christmas week-end. Captain Loving responded promptly to a hint for assistance and placed his private limousine at our command, driving same himself and delivering parcel post. He was not satisfied with complying with our hint daily, without any further request, presented himself at the postoffice, to inquire if he could be of any assistance to us.

Wonderful Assistance
P. P. O'Brien, acting postmaster at Los Angeles, and all of the employees of the Los Angeles office have given us wonderful assistance, even arranging to truck the mail out from Los Angeles during the temporary crippling of the service over the Pacific Electric. Any request that was made from Los Angeles was complied with immediately and with cheerfulness, thereby enabling us to operate four windows during the heaviest rush and keep our parcel post delivery up to date.

D. Ripley Jackson, the incoming postmaster, who will assume charge beginning December 28, has also given to us a very great amount of help and in fact, it is through his efforts that most of the foregoing help from the different firms and persons mentioned above has been accomplished, although not assuming charge of the postoffice as yet. He has rendered to us every assistance which we could possibly ask for from any REAL LIVE postmaster. All this I deeply appreciate as do all the other employees of the Glendale branch who are welcoming the chance to serve under Glendale's OWN postoffice.

We have been hampered somewhat by the elements and the unusual volume of mail received due to the rapid growth of the city, also owing to the sickness of some of our carriers due to the exposure during the storm. I have heard no unpleasant words or dissatisfaction expressed at the postoffice and the people of Glendale have shown a good spirit which was imparted to the force in general. Those on the outside do not realize the extent to which the postoffice employees are physically and mentally taxed during the Christmas holidays and during this time they could realize much a pleasant smile and a pleasant word meant to those on the other side of the window. I felt that every person that came to the Glendale office would have a cheerful word and smile for the employees which has meant so much during this season.

Expresses Appreciation
I wish to thank the newspapers for the publicity given to our efforts to please which has done wonders in the way of imparting cheer and good feeling to both the employees and the public.

To suitably terminate my term of office as superintendent and establish a fitting welcome to the incoming postmaster, we found this morning that Jupiter Pluvius had endeavored to enter the office in a manner which was not very pleasing to the occupants. As he entered with such a volume we were obliged to move out of the entire financial section of the office, abandon our windows and endeavor to serve the public through the temporary arrangement at the back of the office. Through it all, we have tried to smile and trust that our smiles will have the desired effect and ward off any further entrances of our aquatic saint. In every sense of the word, the Glendale branch had all the appearance of a fourth-class office of the first water.

I trust that I may have the pleasure of the better acquaintance of the people of Glendale during the coming administration, having been retained by the incoming postmaster as assistant postmaster of the Glendale independent office.

Yours very truly,

GEO. HALLETT.

No wonder the ocean waves get angry when the wind is constantly blowing them up.

He's Most Expensive Minor League Player

Jimmy O'Connell, San Francisco first baseman and outfielder, sold to the New York Giants for $75,000, the highest price ever paid for a minor league player. O'Connell is 20 years of age. He bats left handed and throws right handed. O'Connell played for a while at Santa Clara university, California, but most of his baseball, before he joined the Seals two years ago, was confined to sand lots.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

It was to be assumed that if there were a tie ballot on the question of a seven or nine-game series for the world's baseball championship that Judge Landis would cast the deciding vote for the shorter series. Landis came out flat-footed last October for the seven-game series.

One of the main arguments he advanced was that, however free from the taint of making more additional money the promoters might be, there was an ineradicable impression with a great army of the fans that where a matter of a quarter of a million dollars per additional game was involved, the temptation would be too great not to drag out the series. Of course, this meant that there would have to be jockeying of some kind, even though there were not downright dishonesty.

In order for a team to lose a game it is not necessary, as was done by the Black Sox, of infamous fame, to make fumbles or overthrows. It is easy enough to put in the wrong pitcher who, however much he may try to win his game, is not capable of the task. There are tricks in every trade, many of which do not stop over the written law, but certainly smash to smithereens the real spirit and intent of a rule.

The writer was in New York during the days when the final games of the world's series were being played last October and, while there was no open accusation that the nip and tuck process of playing through was in any way brought about by dishonesty, there was plenty of cynical talk among the fans. Of course, a great deal of this had to be taken with a grain of salt. The fan who had placed his bet on one team or the other to win naturally would be pained when the other fellow caught up or passed him, and he would be likely to say things of a sarcastic nature.

However, there were plenty of bona fide fans who cared little which of the two teams ultimately won, who sagely wagged their heads and hinted that while the players were probably playing on the level, there might be some fine jockeying done by the managers in the matter of their batteries that would tend to make the games go the way for a longer series.

It is this thing that Judge Landis has had in mind, and which he figured the shorter series would go a long way toward offsetting. Of course, there is a very decided division of opinion over the question. Doubtless the longer series goes further to prove which is the better team, but the commercialism which enters into all professional sports cannot be overlooked and anything that tends to make the fan suspicious must be eliminated when possible.

Certainly the players and the clubs will get a full measure of reward in a seven-game series. In all conscience, the thousands of dollars which they now are getting is adequate reward for the effort expended. There is something of a revulsion of feeling among the public at the idea of the great purses which are being given, not only in pugilism, but in other lines of sport. That a man like Dempsey should get, in one match, what is paid the president of the United States for his entire term justifiably is cause for caustic and ironical comment.

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The death of Sam McVey, the colored heavyweight boxer, removes one of the interesting characters of the ring. Sam fought in order that he might eat, and his many matches against Sam Langford became one of the jokes of the squared circle. He generally was defeated, but the two always seemed to manage to draw a house and Sam ate. Last year he was barred by the police department of Philadelphia from again appearing in that city for alleged stalling in his fight against Harry Wills. The penalty also was inflicted on Wills. McVey was a powerfully built man, but he was of a lazy temperament and liked to take things as easy as possible.

The question has been brought up as to whether or not the boxers of today do more clinching than they used to in the old days. It is contended by some that the present day ringmen are less prone to like their punishment and that they are making clinching a fine art in order to avoid being hurt. Jack McAuliffe, former lightweight champion has this to say in regard to the boxer who clinches: "The boxer who goes tearing into a clinch is a coward, and a set of officials who are unable to find a winner after a lengthy contest show a weakness which should exclude them from the pastime. It is a lack of initiative. The proper sand is not there and these officials are just as cowardly as the fellow who does the clinching and grabbing in a contest."

Jack McAuliffe believes that there is no such thing as a draw boxing contest. He believes that one man must be better than the other. In this connection he says: "There is a winner in every contest. It does not make any difference how close it is, the winner is there and he ought to be declared. It is not fair to the boxers, nor is it fair to the spectators when a draw decision is arrived at. It is all wrong. Take the race tracks, for instance, where, during a season there are a thousand or more races. How often do you hear of a dead heat?"

The season for hiking in California never is closed. While the summer months are the favorable ones, there is never a week-end but what hundreds go off on the trails. This is the case in wet weather even, for rain seems to have no terrors for the real walking enthusiast. Many of these claim that this is the best season for long tramps as there is no heat to combat and so better time is made as well as the enjoyment enhanced. It is observed that the number of women hikers is not much less than the men. Barely is a skirt seen. Practically every last one wears breeches. The low flat heel fast is displacing the high heels which many were in the habit of clinging to. A number of sprained ankles resulted and this lesson is being learned.

There is every possibility that after the turn of the year, Frank Schuler, promoter of wrestling in San Francisco, will cast about for a series of matches between the best of the country's mat artists. This sport has taken the fancy of the public and good houses have been the rule.

DR. H. R. HARROWER GIVES FIGURES ON SITES OFFERED

Declares That Lukens' Site
Is $930 Acre Less Than
Cost of Grey Land

Editor The Evening News—I hope that you will editorially urge a record vote in favor of the high school bonds tomorrow. No circumstances, personal or otherwise, should permit this matter to be held over for a long period of years. I hope that every registered voter in Glendale will vote "YES" on the bonds.

In regard to the selection of the site I have little to add to what has already been splendidly outlined in your columns and elsewhere. I have been a bit concerned about the price and have dug up some figures—they do not seem to have been very strenuously emphasized in the comparison—which I may pass through you to your readers.

The Grey tract on Doran is said to contain twenty acres—I am informed that the footage is $52 from Chester to Kenilworth, and $25 from Doran to Patterson—just a little over eighty acres. At all events, let us say twenty acres as these figures have been mentioned several times. From that we must deduct three-quarters of an acre reserved for the Grey homestead; eighty-four hundredths of an acre, which the city engineer assures me will be necessary to accommodate the street work on three sides. This leaves eighteen and four tenths acres. The price is $75,000 and the city engineer assures me that the street work will cost $12,500—a total of $87,500. This amounts, approximately, to $4,750 an acre and I think it is very expensive land.

Figures on Lukens' Site
On the other hand, the Lukens' site embraces twenty-one and one-half acres and no deduction need be made for streets, although the sidewalks will have to be put in. The price is $77,500 and the city engineer states it will cost $4,600 for the improvements—making a total of $82,100, or at the rate of approximately $3,820 per acre.

I really think that the voters should have respect to the pocket-books of the people in this matter as well as consider the relative merits of the sites from the geographic, transportation, climatic and other standpoints.

Mr. Grey wants $4,750 an acre. Messrs. Lukens and McOmber want $930 an acre less. Do you think that I will be perfectly reasonable in voting for the Lukens' site at a saving of so much money?

HENRY R. HARROWER, M. D.

Pardon for Mooney Demand Made Upon Governor Stephens

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—In a letter to Governor William S. Stephens, made public here, the Tom Mooney defense committee called upon the state executive to pardon Mooney and Warren K. Billings, sentenced to life imprisonment following the 1916 Preparedness day bomb explosion, declaring the belief that "the injustice to Mooney will continue to be the foundation for other agitations similar to the Sacco-Vanzetti propaganda."

The letter also calls upon the governor to order District Attorney Brady of San Francisco to submit documents to him alleged by the committee to prove a "perjury conspiracy against the convicted California labor leaders."

GIRL SCOUTS GIVE ANNUAL PARTY TO THEIR PARENTS

Christmas Gathering Greatly Enjoyed; Games Played;
Social Time Enjoyed

The gayest affair of the holiday week was held at the Girls' Gymnasium at the High School Tuesday night, when the Girl Scouts, Troop I, entertained their mothers, fathers and friends, at their annual party. The gymnasium was decorated with Christmas colors, with holly wreaths, crepe paper streamers and a beautiful Christmas tree. The American Flag and Scout Banner occupied the place of honor. The evening was spent with pleasant games. In one of these, Leslie Hatch won first prize and David Chandler the consolation. Light refreshments were served, and the young people danced informally for a half hour.

The arrangements were under the direction of the following committees: Reception, Miss Gladys Sharpe, captain; Mary Stanley, senior patrol leader; Catherine Stofft, Evelyn Hunt and Lois Naudain. Decorating, Emma Laura Cooper, chairman; Lucille Beach, Katherine Bender. Entertainment, Lina Borthick, chairman. Refreshments, Shirley Chase. Chairman, Lucille Allen. Margaret Longley, Cecil Chase. ### Archie Parker Pleased With Holiday Business

Archie Parker, proprietor of the Quality Grocery, 144 North Brand boulevard, has no complaint about this year's Christmas business. He stated yesterday that in spite of the fact that prices are 21 per cent lower this year than last, his meat department had come within $15 of taking in as much money as last year while his grocery department at the close of business Christmas eve had done $200 more business than during the entire month of December, 1920.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Meeting City's Wants
Zoning Ordinance Up
Another Burning Question
Hurrah for Postmaster

By Gil A. Cowan

WANTED—Houses for sale or for rent.
Wanted—Vacant property at right prices.

Wanted—Work by builders and contractors.
Wanted—Employment by hundreds of workmen.

Wanted—A thousand miscellaneous articles for sale.
Wanted—Experienced executives among men and household help for women.

That is a summary of the want-ad situation today. Advertise if you have houses for sale or for rent because there is a demand for them.

Advertise in The Glendale Evening News if you have vacant property on which a person of modest means can afford to build.

Advertise if you can put a crew on construction work at once. Then get busy and employ some of the workmen.

Glendale people have been enjoying great prosperity and it will continue if the real estate men and the builders and the home makers get on behind the rain barrel.

There is a tremendous demand for rooms, houses, homes and vacant property. Men paced the street last night looking for suitable living accommodations. Families motored from Los Angeles to find homes here. But what's the use—

Classified advertising in The Glendale Evening News will solve these riddles.

A public discussion of the city zoning ordinance will be held by the city council on the evening of January 5. Local orators are invited to "brush up" their vocabulary for the event. It is expected that a good time will be had by all.

There seems to be but one difficulty with the zoning ordinance in its present state. There is but one way to determine whether a person's property is in the perfect, plus perfect or imperfect zone. The documents in the matter refer to a colored map. For anyone who is color blind, there will be more or less difficulty.

There is only one suggestion we could make regarding a zoning ordinance and that is to place a rubber band around it so the zones can stretch. Under no circumstances tie it with red tape. Someone might mistake the tape for a zone. That would lead to an extended discussion.

The city council has another matter under consideration that will cause its share of comment. Intention of removing all curb gasoline filling stations was announced last night. This action is made necessary by traffic congestion, according to the council.

There might be greater traffic congestion if there were no oil stations, but, if they must be moved from the curb, cannot the council require every corner lot be turned into a service stand. No need of going half way with such burning questions as gasoline.

Glendale now has its own post-office. Hurrah!
Three cheers for Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

He took office this morning and the first of the year will find Glendale in the "first class" list, regardless of the poison propaganda spilled in the last eight years that The Glendale Evening News has been fighting for independent service.

KIDDIES GUESTS AT GLENDALE TODAY, PICKFORD FILM

'Little Lord Fauntleroy' Is the Offering for Final Time
Tonight at 8 o'Clock

"Little Lord Fauntleroy, with Mary Pickford, closes a tremendous run at the Glendale Theatre tonight. This afternoon all of the kiddies, who otherwise would have been unable to see the beloved actress in the adorable role, are guests of Manager William A. Howe. If you have not seen the picture, there is still the opportunity at 8 p. m.

The story has its beginning in New York where Cedric Errol is discovered with his mother in a modest flat. Cedric has his troubles with the boys of the neighborhood, all because of his curls, but finds much comfort in the company of his three cronies, Mrs. McGinty, Mr. Hobbs, and Dick, the bootblack.

Many Amusing Incidents
Although his ambition is to be president of the United States, the title of Lord is thrust upon him most unexpectedly by the solicitor for his grandfather, Earl of Dorincourt, who had disowned Cedric's father before the lad was born. This ascent to the nobility took the boy to England where there developed many amusing as well as tragic incidents which lead to a climax filled with more heart-break than anything ever shown on the screen. His three old cronies, however, finally bring back to Little Lord Fauntleroy and his grandfather the happiness that had all but gone a-glimmering.

The picture is marvelously well cast, proving again the wisdom of this far-seeing star. No part has been sacrificed to accentuate the glory of Little Mary and as a result, every characterization is perfect. The impression made by Claude Gillingwater as the Earl of Dorincourt will linger long in the minds of those who see this play. Other interpretations which stand forth are those given by Joseph Dowling as the solicitor; Comin Kenny as the eldest son of the Earl handles a small part in a masterful way, even to his spectacular death.

Higher Rate Guaranty Sought, Senator Says

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28.—The charge that the railroads are seeking to have congress so amend the Esch-Cummins law as to compel the Interstate Commerce Commission to perpetuate the rate guaranty which expires on March 1 and to boost it even higher than the present rate of six per cent, was made by Senator La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, member of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, in a formal statement issued by him.
